

Abstract

"A method of broadcasting television quality programming in real time"

5

The invention provides a method and system of broadcasting television quality programs in real time. A dedicated uncontended connection line between a production process center (PPC) (2) and a remote service computer provider (3) provides quality
10 programming to be broadcast from the PPC (2) to a number of remote client devices (4) via the remote service provider computer (3).

15